LEAD AND ZINC IN PAYING QUANTITIES

Good News For the Local Owners of Mines in Crittenden County

OTHER DISTRICT MINING NEWS

A number of Louisville men owning mining property in Crittenden county received word today from experts working on their mines that leads them to believe that they will become capitalists in a short time. In seeking fluor spar, a vein of ore rich in lead and zinc was unearthed and will be worked at once.

The mines referred to are located near Crittenden Springs and are near the famous Eclipse Mines that are among the richest lead and zinc mines in this part of the country. The lead was struck in paying quantities thirty feet below the surface. Here it assays 25 per cent. and is thought to be much richer farther down. Attorney James Edwards, Mr. William Miller and Mr. John M. Rankin are local persons having large interests in the mines.

They expect to realize over $100,000 in the next few months, and are making active preparations to work the mines day and night.

Mining Fine Ore at Carrsville

The Schoolfield-Spears Mining Co. is taking out some fine samples of carbonate and fluor spar out of their mine near Carrsville. They have their machinery installed and are taking out large quantities of mineral and will be heavy shippers in the future. They have overcome the water which flooded their mines and now have a pump that is equal to the emergency and is keeping the water out of their mines so that drifting can be carried on the veins.

Warning Against Peek-a-Boo.

Macon, Mo., July 18.—The following official warning published in the church Herald today for the guidance of those attending the Feasts of the Tabernacle at College Mount, Macon county, Aug. 2 to 12:

"Please do not let any young ladies come to the camp with arms and neck exposed by thin sleeves and waists. It seems modest and becoming enough to wear such garments at home, where none sees you but your father and brothers."

Jewelry of all sorts has long since been barred by the holiness people, but this is their first proclamation against "peek-a-boo" shirt waists and their exposures.

Famous Mine Exhausted.

St. Louis, Mo., July 18.—When the circuit court today, in session at Farmington, takes action to dissolve the Iron Mountain Company it will mean the passing out of existence of a famous corporation that has netted its stockholders a profit of $7,000,000. The action was taken by mutual consent of the stockholders. The Iron Mountain at one time the richest iron ore region in the United States, has been exhausted of its ore and soon will be transformed into a vast pasture for the breeding of fine stock. The mining company was organized forty years ago and in its career had paid 200 per cent. in dividends. It has assets remaining of $275,000 which will be divided among the stockholders.

Cow Gives Birth to Three Calves

Galiz, Ky., July 12.—R. C. Parmenter living on the farm of D. L. Sumner, a mile west of here has a cow that has just given birth to three calves, all three of which are well developed medium-sized calves, and all are living and doing well.

Earthquake Shock.

Albuquerque, N. M., July 16.—This section of New Mexico experienced another slight earthquake shock at noon today. No serious damage was done. Towns to the south also felt the shock and residents of Socorro and San Marcial are in a state of alarm. Adobe buildings at Socorro and other structures built of mud were badly damaged.

El Paso, Tex., July 16.—A distinct earthquake shock was felt here at 11:50 o'clock this morning. Buildings rocked and swayed and many persons fled into the streets. The thermometers and instruments in the weather bureau in the federal building swung back and forth for several minutes. No damage has been reported.

Five Twins too Slow

For the fifth consecutive time the stork left twins at the home of David Goldman and wife, Monday night, says a Cleveland, O., telegram. Their living children now number fourteen. "I aspire to be the parent of twelve more," declared the proud Goldman.

"I share my husband's ambition," chimed in Mrs. Goldman, hale and happy though still in bed.

Eleven of the children still at home rejoice with their father and mother and are proud of the newest arrivals. They are a healthy, congenial family.

"I do feel well enough to be up and about today," said Mrs. Goldman, her face wreathed in smiles, "but the folks insist that I remain in bed. I assure you, I will be up tomorrow."

"As I said, we hope to increase our family by twelve before old age comes. But David and I are forty-five years of age each, and you can guess why we hope for triplets or quadruplets the next time."

Cliff Fell and Delayed Train

Part of the cliff at Fox Bluff, Tenn., was washed down on the Illinois Central track Saturday night, and but for the watchfulness of the track walker, a series of wrecks might have occurred.

The track was covered beneath four feet of soil and rock for a distance of 400 feet. The track walker hastened to flag both trains.

The accommodation train leaving Nashville for Princeton, Ky., at 5 o'clock, was delayed three and one-half hours, while the fast passenger train from Chicago to Nashville, was held up six hours before the track was cleared.

New Sidewalks.

The city council, at its recent regular session, ordered the following sidewalks built, either of concrete, brick, or stone, as specified:

On the East side of Main street, abutting on the lot of J. A. Stegar, said walk to be of concrete or brick not less nine feet wide.

On the North side of Bellville street, abutting on the lots of Harvey Porter, Jack Stembridge, and the Illinois Central Railroad Co.; to be of oak plank and not less than three feet wide.

Watch US Grow!

The Press has decided to add a pictorial magazine and comic supplement in colors and will begin next week. These comic pictorial magazines are used extensively by all the leading great dailies and we believe it will be quite popular, with the little folks especially, in the thousands of homes where the Press is now read.

A HORRIBLE DEATH

Two Boys Meet Death in the Mighty Waters of the Ohio

While bathing in the river at Fairview, Ill., last Monday morning, Harry Ralph, age about 18, son of Parker Ralph, and Joe Joiner, age about 24, son of Wm. Joiner, were drowned. About eight young men and boys went in bathing Monday morning, and with others, these two young men swam out over a reef which brought them into a deep angry current of water where there seemed to be a whirl. The edge of the reef seemed to be made of quicksand, and all efforts of these two boys to gain a foot hold were in vain. Their companions tried to save them but could not. The other boys who swam into this dangerous place were saved after a desperate struggle.

The bodies were not found until Tuesday morning, about 24 hours later. They were found floating with their heads upward.

This appears to be a very dangerous place in the river. Within the last two years two steam boats and some barges have been wrecked near that place. Elizabethtown, Ill., Independent.

Price and the burial took place in the new cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Vick have the sympathy of all their friends.

G. R. Pucket, son of Mrs. Cynthia Pucket of this city, who was a resident of San Francisco at the time of the earthquake, started east recently for a visit to relatives and friends accompanied by his family.

When they reached Chicago his little daughter was stricken with typhoid fever which necessitated her being put in a hospital where she was detained so long that they abandoned part of their trip and returned to San Francisco.

HANDSOME INCREASE

In the Postoffice Receipts this Year Over Last Year

April, May and June of this year have increased receipts at the Marion post-office over the same months last year of $27.85.

In 1905 the total receipts for April May and June were $788.26; this year they were $816.11.

The year 1905 was the year of wonderful building. Postoffice receipts show that 1906 is better, and their record is a good barometer.

Let us examine the first three months of each year:

	1906	1905
Jan.	$356.90	$281.36
Feb.	313.30	267.70
Mar.	429.14	296.28
	$1099.34	$845.34

Increase over 1905 of $254.00.

Who said Marion was dead? Who said there was less business in Marion this than last? If Marion is dead who is buying stamps? Why are there more postoffice boxes rented now than last year or year before?

The firms who advertise are doing more business each year.

The sermon at the Presbyterian church last Sunday morning was on the subject of "judging." The text was taken from two passages of scripture, Mt. 7:1 and John 7:24. "Judge not that ye be not judged," "Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment." These passages of scripture teach both the positive and the negative side of the principle of judging. The speaker applied this to the various phases of human life showing how man is to regard the rights of his fellowman. Man is not to judge his brother when there is no absolute need for it, but when he must judge him then he is to observe the positive statement of the principle and judge righteous judgment. Man is to observe this rule of life in regard to the habits, the private affairs and the conscience of his brother.

The Union services of the churches were held at the Baptist church last Sunday night and the sermon was preached by Rev. Andres of the Presbyterian church. The text was 1 Cor. 16:13, "Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong." The speaker called this Paul's Guide to Strength. The three points of strength are to be on the guard, to take a stand and to be courageous. The strong man is ever on the alert against his foe. We as christians are to be on the alert against sin. The christian is to be watchful and ready for the second coming of Christ. One of the chief points of strength is the stand a man takes against his enemy. The Child of God is to stand fast in faith. If man is firmly rooted in the faith of Christ he is given strength to overcome many conflicts against the forces of evil. The last point of strength is courage. Men must be courageous to win life's battles. The christian man must be a man of courage and then he will be able to overcome. The speaker gave as such examples of courage, Joseph, Daniel, Paul and Luther who stood in hazardous places and came away wearing crowns of victory because of their dauntless courage. Thus to be men of strength we are to be on our guard take a firm stand and be of a courageous spirit.

Rev. J. R. McAfee delivered a sermon on the subject "The Son and Daughter's part in Maintaining a Christian Home" last Sunday morning at the M. E. church which was full of sound logic and good advice and was heartily enjoyed by the large congregation present.

Regular services at the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by the pastor. Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.

Services as usual at the Presbyterian church next Sunday. Sunday school at 9:30, preaching at eleven o'clock by the pastor.

Rev. Duke S. Hill, of Evansville, a former citizen of this county, will preach at the union services at the Methodist church next Sunday night.

Rev. Andres will preach next Sunday night at 7 o'clock at the Presbyterian church at Tolu.

BOSTON'S NEW CHURCH.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DEDICATE TWO MILLION DOLLAR MOTHER TEMPLE.

Thousands from All Parts of World Throughed Historic City—Church Seated 5000.—Taller Than Bunker Hill Monument.

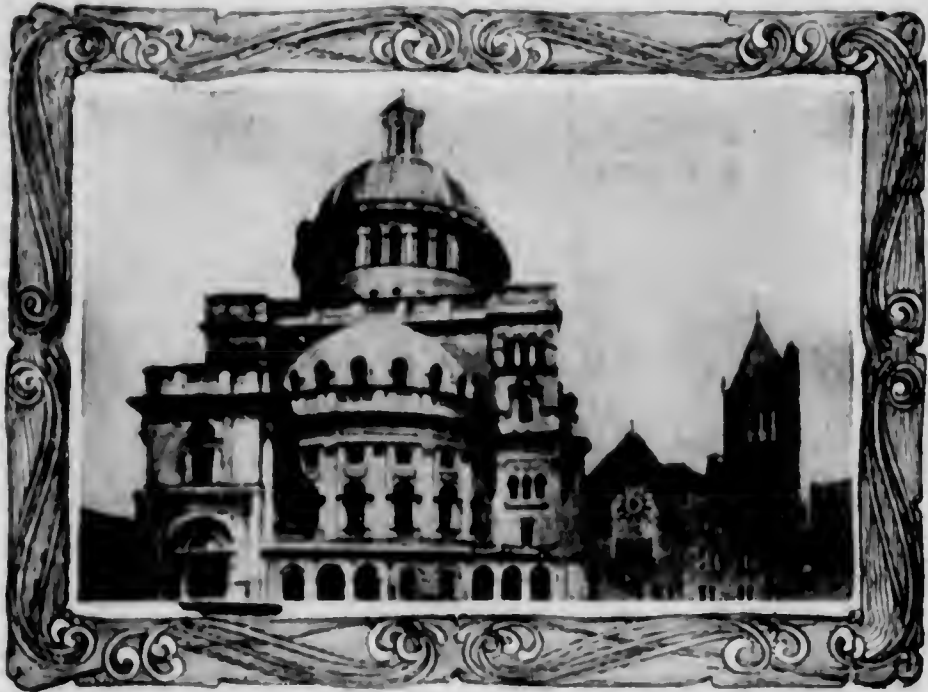

The dedication in June of a magnificent new addition to the Mother Church of the Christian Science denomination, in Boston, was an event of the highest significance in the history of this religious body.

Built as the result of a spontaneous recognition of Mrs. Eddy's life work and of the imperative demands of the marvelous growth of the movement, expressing the liberality of thousands of Christian Scientists, and embodying the best in architectural design and modern construction, this new building was located in the central feature of this year's gathering.

The church is one of the largest, if not the largest in the United States, its seating capacity being 5,000. Its style of architecture is Italian Renaissance. The pews and other interior furnishings are of mahogany. The walls are Concord granite and Bedford stone, with beautiful decorative carvings. The inside finish is a soft gray to harmonize with the Bedford stone columns supporting the dome. The height of the building to the top of the lantern is 224 feet, just one foot higher than Bunker Hill monument. The dome is eighty-two feet in diameter and is covered with terra cotta to match the Bedford stone. The building presents a stately, dignified and impressive appearance, and it is already recognized as one of the landmarks of Boston.

The cost of the building is something less than $2,000,000. The new edifice consists of eleven bells, the largest of which weighs two pounds. The smallest bell weighs two pounds. The organ is one of the largest and finest in the world.

The original "Mother Church" which adjoins the new building seats about 1,200, and yet three Sunday services are required to accommodate the attendance. It is said that when this edifice was planned some of the members were disturbed on account of its size. They thought that the provision of so large an auditorium was entirely unnecessary for the attendance at that time being only about 500.

Mrs. Eddy, organized the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, in 1879 with twenty-six members. So slow was the growth of the movement at first that in 1880, ten years later, there were only eleven churches. From that time, however, the increase was more rapid. In 1889, there were 301 churches. There are now 457 churches and 275 societies not yet organized as churches, making 932 societies holding church services. In 1880 there were only 450 members in the entire connection. In 1894 the total membership was 2,530. Five years later it had reached 18,134. These figures show that the principal growth has taken place during the past seven years. The membership at the present time is about 72,000.

The dedicatory exercises were attended by visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada, from Great Britain, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Hawaiian Islands, South America and other foreign countries.

One hundred and forty-five church edifices have already been erected by the Christian Scientists. These, as a whole, compare favorably with those of the older denominations. It is said that when funds are no longer needed for the completion of the Mother Church a large number of buildings will be commenced in different parts of the country.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDERS.

They Are the Most Delicate of All Instruments.

The instruments invented for the recording of the motions of the earth's crust during an earthquake are looked upon by scientists as the most delicate of all machines. So highly sensitive are they, indeed, that the very slightest vibratory motion is recorded perfectly. Even the trend of feet can be ascertained by this instrument, if sufficient cause vibration.

There are three classes of instruments for the automatic recording of earthquakes, each with its own particular function. First is the seismo-scope, which will merely detect and record the fact that there has been an earth tremor. Some of these are so equipped as to indicate the time of the disturbance.

Second is the seismometer, the function of which is to measure the maximum force of the shock, either with or without an indication of its direction. The third instrument is the seismograph, which is so arranged that it will accurately record the number, succession, direction, magnitude and period of successive oscillations. The last instrument is by far the most delicate of the three.

In the construction of this earthquake-recording machine the maker must so suspend a heavy body that when its normal position is disturbed in the most infinitesimal degree, no reactionary force will be developed tending to restore it to its original position. The inventor has never been found who could accomplish this suspension of a body to perfection. The seismograph of today, however, has reached a stage of perfection where close approximations are obtained in the records made.

The complementary part of the instrument is composed of a system of levers connecting an asthetically suspended body with various surfaces that are moved by clockwork. These surfaces are constructed of highly sensitive material, on which needles play as the suspended weight responds to the vibrations of the earth's crust.

The most elaborate of these machines are capable of recording the vertical and two horizontal motions of the earth in the case of a seismic disturbance.

HAD A GOOD SPANKING.

Boy, Rescued From Drowning, Mother Administers an Admonitory Lesson.

An interesting little story of very human interest comes from the river front on the outskirts of New York City where Signora Gemma, who recently came to this country from Naples, was walking the other day with her seven-year-old son, Antonio, for an airing. While she was watching a passing steamboat the little chap frisked along the pier and then—splash! into the river.

The mother's shrieks were heard by a patrolman. He jumped into a boat

RENAMING THE SIOUX.

SOME TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND INDIANS ARE RECEIVING CHRISTIAN NAMES.

Educated Indian Tribesmen Selected by the "Great Father" to Rechristen Braves—Bob-tailed Coyote Becomes Robert T. Wolf.

Uncle Sam has recently inaugurated a unique and ingenious project in connection with his Indian wards—or at least the most populous division of them. This is nothing less than a scheme for renaming every chief and brave, every squaw and papoose of the Sioux tribe. The object of this wholesale rechristening is to insure the right descent of property, something that has been attended with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name, and each redskin could be identified only by his own individual fanciful name, a cognomen which most likely had not the slightest resemblance to those of any of his relatives.

The renaming of the 25,000 members of the Sioux Indian tribe was ordered by President Roosevelt on the advice of Hamlin Garland and George Bird Grinnell, well known authors, and other persons who have made a study of the needs of the Indians. To decide upon the renaming was however an easy matter in comparison to the actual carrying out of the strange undertaking.

SUSPICIONS OF THE INDIANS.

The President and his advisors realized from the outset that it would be one thing to give the Indians new names and quite another to induce the sons and daughters of the forest—ever suspicious of the white men—to accept and use these new names. However, the Great Father at Washington was fortunate enough to enlist the cooperation of Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, a highly educated physician and clergyman, who is a full-blooded Sioux, and who came into national prominence some time since when he married Elaine Goodale, the talented young New England poetess. At the President's solicitation Dr. Eastman, who is considered the best educated Indian in the world, agreed to personally undertake the task of inducing his people to adopt the system of family names desired by the government.

Just what this responsibility meant will be better understood when it is explained that not only was Dr. Eastman to visit all the Indian villages of the Sioux tribe and personally bestow names but he must also devise or invent the new names. Just imagine selecting given names for 25,000 persons of both sexes and apportioning perhaps half as many or one third as many different family names in addition.

In this portion of his novel missionary work for Uncle Sam the Name Giver, as the Sioux now term their educated tribesman, has displayed rare judgment and a fine regard for family history and tradition among the Sioux—a thoughtfulness that has done much to win the good will of these intelligent but conservative Indians for the new project. Whenever possible he has perpetuated an Indian's old name in his new one. For instance, High Eagle becomes Mr. Highledge, Bob-tailed Coyote was changed to Robert T. Wolf, and Rotten Pumpkin has been transformed into Robert Pumpkin.

Dr. Eastman has been making a round of all the Sioux reservations which are located for the most part in the Dakotas and elsewhere in the Northwest. When he arrives at a branch agency, or tribal headquarters, for the purpose of rechristening the inhabitants his first move is to have a conference with the chief men or councilors of the place. They, in turn, send out a herald or town crier to summon all the people to a sort of mass meeting and in this the "Name Giver" explains the President's wishes at length.

THROUGH INDIAN SUPTILITY. At the outset many of the assembled Indians may be prone to grumble against the new system, but gradually Dr. Eastman will win them over, and in his labors thus far he has not encountered more than half a dozen Indians who have steadfastly refused to change their names. However, hundreds of the Indians have conformed to him that they would accept the new system of names only because they had the assurance of a fellow tribesman (Dr. Eastman) that it was a good plan, and that they would never have tolerated it had a white man come among them and broached the scheme.

Although the renaming of the Sioux is not yet completed it has already been proven that the new system of names will be of the greatest benefit and value in insuring the correct descent of Government allotments of land from generation to generation. Incidentally it may be noted that even this early untangling of lines of descent has won for some Indians valuable property rights previously denied them. As a case in point it may be cited that only a few weeks ago Dr. Eastman was instrumental in securing for a young squaw 640 acres of rich land of high value which had been temporarily lost to her owing to her separation from her own tribe, and which an unscrupulous relative was on the point of selling when President Roosevelt's special commissioner stepped in and set things right.

'Phoning Through Flesh.

To talk through the human body—or a row of human bodies, for the matter of that—is one of the weirdest of the electrician's feats. If a telephone wire be severed and the two ends be held by a person, one in each hand, but far apart, it is quite possible for a conversation to be carried on through the body, as readily and as distinctly as if the line had been properly connected.

Their Compass Points to the South

The Chinese do everything backwards, from a Caucasian point of view. Their compass points to the South, instead of the north. The men wear their hair long, while the women cut theirs in a knot. The dressmakers are men, the women carry burdens. The spoken language is not written, and the written language is not spoken. Books are read backwards,

THE BLACK SEAL PURSE.

"Snatch it! Snatch it!" whispered Reddy the "lookout," pal to Jimmy the Swift, who won this title from the lightning rapidity with which he was known to relieve men's pockets of their contents.

In a moment the practiced fingers of Jimmy had skillfully extracted a fat seal purse from the pocket of a slight young man who was lustily allowing his way through the crowd that was besieging a belated Broadway car.

The day had not been a rich one for the "picks," and Jimmy eyed the thin purse rather suspiciously.

"Mighty slim-looking, hey, Red?"

spell the hard words to his chum, who listened with a cynical smile. At the end of the reading he was about to shout with derisive laughter, when Jim, springing forward, collared him, and with a tone utterly new to him, said sternly:

"Look here, Red! You and I's friends—that's all right; but as sure as I'm a thief, this here ain't no stuff for a feller to laugh at!"

For an answer Red thrust his hands into his pockets, eying Jim curiously the while, and turned on one foot with a long low whistle.

"I never had no mother," murmured Jim. "She died when I was a little chap, so I never knew her, but it must be awfully nice for a feller to have a mother like that to be good to him, and learn him things. Well, who knows, maybe if you and me had had mothers like that, instead of being kicked round by the boss, we never got enough out of us, we might have had a good schoolin' and been making an honest livin', instead of thievin' in New York."

These words of regret upon the past of his young life, and the expressed desire for something better, from one whose only home almost since infancy had been the street, and whose companions had been crooks and ne'er-do-wells, was too much for the incorrigible Reddy, whose worship consisted of heroes that were daring villains, and not penitent sinners.

He could hardly suppress his contempt for the, to him, now "Soft" Jimmy, hence he drawled, with a sneer:

"You—ain't—goin'—to squeal on account of that find, be you, Jim?"

"See, there you are! Go ahead, Jim. Look at the bunch of greenies sticking out of the old feller's coat—quick, Jim!"

The habit of years could not be overcome in a moment. Goaded by his tempter, Jimmy stealthily leaped forward, and in a second his fingers would have been on the bunch of paper money which the evil eye of Reddy "spotted" in the old man's pocket. Like a flash came the sight of the purse, the gray lock of hair, the words in the newspaper that made such an impression upon him—no, he would not, he could not any more. His hand dropped to his side. The old man disappeared with the money, safe from Jimmy's wicked fingers.

Jim's head sank until his chin rested upon his naked chest, his companion glaring at him with eyes furious with anger.

"Well, 'ta'nt no use," said Jim, quietly but firmly; "I couldn't, Red, somehow, after that—and I'll never try it again."

"You got another pal—if you want to—but I tell you that I ain't goin' to keep this here pocketbook nor nothin' what's in it. It's done it for me; I've quit the profession."

That night a black seal purse was left in the office of one of the great New York newspapers, with a note scrawled in pencil, as follows: "Please try to find the owner of this I guess he wants it bad. The thief as was."—Los Angeles Times.

In Extremis.

The four-year-old daughter of a clergyman was ailing one night and was put to bed early. As her mother was about to leave her she called her back.

"Mamma," she said, "I want to see my papa."

"No, dear," her mother replied, "your papa is busy and must not be disturbed."

"But, mamma," the child persisted, "I want to see my papa."

As before, the mother replied: "No, your papa must not be disturbed."

But the little one came back with a clincher:

"Mamma," she declared solemnly, "I am a sick woman, and I want to see my minister."

A DUSTING OUTFIT

Designed by BERTHA BROWNING.

No housekeeper can afford to be without a useful apron, cap and sleeves for the time when the house must be swept and dusted and there is no one else to do it. These are invaluable on other occasions when there is other work to do which would soil a lady's gown and the models sketched are designed especially for home construction and very easily made. The apron consists of a narrow square yoke from which the full straight portion depends. The underarm seam is left open for a short distance to allow plenty of room for the sleeve to pass through. The cap is modeled on the quaint Dutch order and very becoming. The sleeves provide for a shirring or elastic to be run in top and bottom to hold them in place. Gingham, percale and madras are suitable materials. For the medium size 6 yards are needed.

Tomatoes For the Cannery.

Raising tomatoes for the canneries has grown to be quite an industry in a number of States. Maryland leads the list with about two million cases per annum; Indiana, with her million cases, second; followed, in turn, by New Jersey, California, Delaware and Ohio. The canneries are permanent institutions, the demand is increasing, and there is no reason why the growing of tomatoes will not continue to be a profitable business with many.

Growing tomatoes for a cannery differs from raising them for the market. In the former case, first of all, a large yield is sought. Early maturity is of less importance since the grower contracts to sell the whole crop at a fixed price. It is said that good corn land is rich enough for tomatoes, although medium clay loam is preferred by many.

Splendid results follow fall or winter plowing. At any rate land should be plowed as early in the spring as possible. Plow deep and follow with earth mulching, that is, mulch with a thin layer of the earth on the surface by shallow cultivation which will be of great value in saving the moisture. The variety should be such as the canneries prefer. They will generally provide the plants at a small price to those who grow tomatoes for them. In case it is preferred to grow the plants near where they are to be set, they should be started in a cold frame or on the south side of a board fence in a rich warm soil. The plants will increase to proper size in four or five weeks, and should be set out in the field in rows about four feet apart, for ease of cultivation. Start the cultivation early, but be careful not to lark the plants, as that will kill them. When they begin to branch do not cultivate closer than the ends of the branches. Continue stirring the soil

A New Potato Culture.

A queer tale in agriculture comes by way of Chicago. It is stated that a half-bushel of sawdust, a dash of chemical solution and fifteen potatoes carefully enveloped with the sawdust will enable the average householder to grow a bushel of tubers on his house-top or in his cellar within sixty days. This process has been discovered and elaborated by W. D. Darst, of Great Falls, Mont. Moreover, the grower will have no potato bugs to contend with, no turning over of the soil at certain intervals, and no contest with worms.

The product of Mr. Darst's process is termed the "bullet potato" from the fact that, grown under these apparently unnatural conditions, there is no surface vegetation, because of which, each potato buried in the sawdust is enabled to produce at least twelve normal-sized tubers.

Usually at the Oakland Plaza, in the rear of the Oakland Hotel, Mr. Darst disclosed the methods of growing potatoes by his system. Operating on the theory that the presence of surface vegetation was only a method of securing nourishment and in reality speeded the vitality of the tuber, Mr. Darst experimented more than six years and found he could overcome this seemingly natural course on the part of the plant by supplying it artificially with its needs.

By employing sawdust, peat, straw or any other earth product that would permit of the circulation of air, moisture and heat, and by applying solutions of various fertilizers, discovered that a single potato would multiply itself by attaching to itself from twelve to sixteen other potatoes of approximately the same dimensions without throwing off any of its energy above ground.

Packed in loosely arranged bins permitting the free access of air and arranged in rows six inches above each matter of fact, what are commonly regarded as the petals of the dogwood are no part of the floral structure at all, but merely four large white leaves, which, during the winter, served as protective wrappers to the flower buds. The real flowers are about the size of shoe-pegs, of greenish color and are bunched several together in a small cluster in the midst of the four white leaves, and if observed at all by the average wild flower gatherers, are mistaken for stamens.

So, too, with the flowers of the pretty "painted cup," which when it blossoms in May frequently makes whole meadows rosy with brilliant color. Looking one, we may think we are looking at a pile of gorgeous, flame-colored flowers, while the fact is that the striking effect is produced entirely by numerous reddened leaves intermingled with the real flowers which are as plain as Cinderella's sisters and practically hidden from sight.

Indeed, so fond is Mother Nature of befogging her unobservant devotees that she has caused one whole family of plants to be given over to this make-believe habit of flowering. To it belong the favorite little "pinks" of the April woods—Jack-in-the-pulpit; the arrow arum that shines with the first, it allows ample room for the stalls and passageways, and, second, it permits of the most economical use of lumber in building. The length shown is 84 feet, but this feature is wholly dependent on the number of cows the dairyman wishes to handle. One of the weakest joints in barn construction is the small amount of window space usually allowed. This error is rectified by the Department in this plan by allowing approximately 6 square feet for each cow.

The bulletin or circular may be obtained by application to the Department of Agriculture. (Circular 80, B. A. 1.)

patterned and pickered wood to muddy margins of shallow streams, the skunk cabbage, and that aristocrat of the greenhouse, the lily, late calla lily. With all these flowers are unrecognizable in themselves as such, except by the lily-like being minute and crowded on a fleshy spike.

Another gay deceiver is the poinsettia of the hot house. In this case it is a circle of scarlet leaves which popular estimation rates as a flower, while the poor little real blossom clustered in the midst of these robbers of their good name live and die unappreciated. Relatives of the poinsettia are the wild spurge of our sandy fields. The flowers of many of these inconspicuous plants, are similarly provided with relatively show appendages, deceiving all but students.

Model Dairy Farm.

The Department of Agriculture has recently published a bulletin containing suggestions for constructing a model dairy farm. It has been the endeavor of the Department to plan a farm embodying the best ideas in scientific and sanitary construction that the country would permit, and it is believed the result accomplished by the plan published will help the dairyman to get the best products from his cows in the most economical manner.

The plan is designed for 24 cows, and allows ample room for calf pens and box stalls for bull and cows, also space for feed room, milking parlour, wash room and silo. In presenting the plan it is not intended by the officials of the

until the stalk has grown so heavy as to fall upon the ground, then cease.

For heavy yields it is essential that strong land or heavy fertilization be used. While it is true that on many of the soils in the Middle States a remunerative crop may be produced with little fertilization, it is also true that on nearly all of these soils a liberal use of fertilizers will be profitable.

The tomato plant is a gross feeder, and especially requires an abundant supply of potash. Prof. Voorhees, of New Jersey, who is authority on such subjects, estimates that ten tons of fruit, with the accompanying vines, would contain fifty-seven pounds of nitrogen, sixteen pounds of phosphoric acid, and ninety-four pounds of potash. On many of our clay lands phosphoric acid is relatively low, and the application of potash is needed to produce the most profitable crops. The nitrogen supply is more variable, and can often be secured by turning under a leguminous crop. On Eastern lands, which have been devoted to last year's tomatoes, nitrate of soda can be used with a profit. In the Central States, manufacturers of fertilizers have not offered goods specially prepared for this vegetable because of a lack of demand, due largely to the ignorance of same, and from lack of knowledge of the requirements of the soil. But of late both the growers and the canners are asking for advice regarding fertilizers to be used on tomatoes. A mixture that has been officially recommended contains:

Nitrogen ..... 4 per cent.
Phosphoric acid... 7 per cent.
Potash ..... 12 per cent.

Using about 500 pounds of this mixture per acre.

Some experiments of early tomatoes seem to indicate that sulphate of potash gives them a better quality. A properly made tobacco fertilizer is also suited for this crop, and the potash in it is derived from sulphate.

LEAVES WHICH POSE AS BLOSSOMS.

has attended them Mr. Darst. It is stated, has the endorsement of Luther Burbank, the eminent horticulturist and botanist.—From Chicago Record Herald.

Counterfeit Blossoms.

When the dogwood is in bloom in the spring woods, he would be a very unobservant traveler who did not know it; yet it is questionable if one out of fifty of the multitude of people who come home from their country walks with their arms full of snowy branches has ever noticed the real flowers of this beautiful tree. As a Department to assist that the arrangement shown is the only satisfactory one, but the idea is to present some important features often overlooked by the builder and which are vital to a well-planned structure.

The amount of space allowed for the various purposes named on the plan is thought to meet the requirements so far as the square feet of floor space is concerned. The arrangement of the space can be adapted to the needs of the particular location.

The design calls for a width of 36 feet 4 inches outside. There are two main reasons for adopting this width; exactly what it is made of and the scores of visitors who pass through our works every day find the Pure Food Factories as clean and sweet as a maiden's fresh white apron. The food is thoroughly cooked in these factories from the choicest white wheat and barley, the sweet offering of the fields.

No food on earth gives the same sustaining power from meal to meal as Grape-Nuts.

BECAUSE—

The starchy parts of the wheat and barley are changed by moisture and heat to a form of sugar required by the human system and almost immediately absorbed without stress to the digestive machinery. And again, the certain elements in these grains are incorporated to insure rebuilding of the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve centres to fit one for the wearing work of the day. A dish of Grape-Nuts and Cream at each meal supplies the GO and you can feel it in a way that leaves no question. It is not stimulation but simply scientific feeding.

INVADING TROOPS MEET WITH DEFEAT

Former President of San Salvador is Killed in Battle--Guatemalans
Are the Victors.

Washington, D. C., July 12.—Regalado, former President of Salvador and leader of the Salvadorean troops, in the recent conflict with Guatemala, was killed in battle yesterday; the announcement of his death was received at the State department yesterday, through a dispatch from our Minister at San Salvador. The dispatch stated Regalado was killed in the last movement of the Salvadorean troops, against the Guatemalans, but did not indicate what the result of the battle was.

Thomas Regalado was president of Salvador from 1899 to 1903. The provision of the Salvadorean constitution prevented him from having another term immediately following the first but he was a candidate to succeed President Escobar, whose term will expire next year and doubtless would have been elected as he was a popular man who achieved much fame as a soldier.

New Orleans, July 12.—An official cablegram to the State department here says the battle in which Regalado was killed was fought at El Estero, a place about 800 miles from the frontier. In the department of Jutiapa, Guatemala, and two miles from the frontier. The Salvadorean were defeated.

Stopped Marriage With Shotgun.

Corvdon, Ind., July 14.—Miss Hallie Matthews, a school teacher, aged 24 years, who attempted to kill her father, July 4, has made an explanation of her act. Her father, who has been a widower a year, was preparing his wedding toilet when his daughter, who objected to the marriage, entered with a gun in her hand. He saw her reflection in the mirror, before which he was standing, and turned in time to knock the gun aside, as he daughter pulled the trigger. Only a small portion of the lead struck him and he was not seriously injured. The gun had but one barrel, and Miss Matthews carried a shell in her hand, with which she intended to kill herself after she had killed her father.

For the Housewife.

In her timely paper in the August Delineator, Isabel Gordon Curtis has some remarks of interest on the making of Frozen Desserts, with a classification of them. Anna W. Morrison tells how to prepare Cool Salads for Hot Days, and A. M. Calkins writes on innovation in salads, which will appeal to jaded appetites. This is the season for the enjoyment of the inviting field mushrooms, and Margaret Hall in the article entitled "The Luscious Field Mushroom," gives many tested receipts for their preparation. Tomatoes take the first place as vegetables for summer tables, and suggestions for utilizing them are also given. During the dog days, one will find that the serving of fancy iced beverages will furnish a happy combination of both food and drink. With this consideration in view many selected receipts are suggested in the article entitled, "Iced Comfort," by Eleanor Marshall.

How to Avoid Typhoid

Typhoid fever is a disease brought about by your own or somebody else's mistakes. It is a disease of the intestinal tract. It is caused directly by the water or milk you drink or the food you eat getting poisoned with the discharges from persons ill with the disease, and in no other way. It is most easily acquired by those who suffer from constipation. Therefore, keep the bowels open and regular.

Water and milk are the two articles most frequently poisoned by typhoid. Heat kills the typhoid poison, therefore, boil all drinking water ten minutes. Scald all milk and cream, especially that intended for the young. Dirty hands may also carry the typhoid poison, therefore wash your hands carefully before handling an article of food or drink. Food gets poisoned, especially green stuff, by being manured with night soil, by flies crawling over it, or by flies crawling over it, or by contaminated dust from the street, or by being washed or watered with pointed water, therefore wash all the vegetables and fruit intended to be eaten raw with boiled water. Keep flies out of the house and shops. Keep food supplies covered so that flies cannot have access to them.

Half the discharges from every case of typhoid were disinfected, there would be no more typhoid fever in the world, therefore, if you have a case of typhoid in the family, disinfect everything with the utmost care.

Clean up about your house and premises. Cleanly surroundings mean cleanly people. Bad odors, dirty yards, dirty houses, bad ventilation, lower human resistance render you more liable to contract the disease; therefore be clean in every detail of housekeeping.

Lives In Three Centuries.

Centralia, Ill., July 10.—Peter White, a negro, has reached his 107th birthday. He was born in Virginia, a slave, and remained a bondsman until freed at the time of the civil war. White saw a large part of the war of 1812, and recalls many events of that day. He says he has seen Presidents Harrison, Polk, Tyler and other great men of early times.

SIX CHILDREN DROWN TRYING TO SAVE BABY

Young One Slipped In Deep Hole and the Others Attempted Its Rescue.

Grand Rapids, Iowa, July 12.—Eight children at a picnic on a river bank only three blocks from home, went wading this afternoon. The smallest one slipped into a deep hole in the river and in trying to rescue her six others were drowned.

The dead—Lucile Sweeting, aged 7, Hazel Sweeting, aged 14, Gladys Sweeting, aged 10, Rose Sweeting, aged 12, Ruth Coyle, aged 11, Cora Coyle, aged 9, Clara Esner, aged 16.

The Sweeting children lived with their father near Ellis park, on the outskirts of the city. Clara Esner was the daughter of his housekeeper, and the Coyle children were her nieces who were there on a visit.

Ruth Kerry, the only one who escaped, says they were wading in the river when Lucile Sweeting slipped into a deep hole. Hazel Sweeting rushed after her, slipping into the hole, then the next girl rushed after her, and so they kept trying to save each other until all the girls except Ruth Kerry had been drowned. She then ran home and gave the alarm.

Whole Family Bitten By Rat

Pittsburg, Pa., July 13.—W. N. Grimes, his wife and 11 months old baby went through a frightful experience at a late hour Tuesday night when they were bitten about the face and hands by a huge rat. Grimes was bitten on the hands five times, and the baby was literally covered with the wounds. The whole family was taken to the Allegheny general hospital, where their wounds were dressed.

Grimes retires early. About eight o'clock his wife came into the room and was almost overcome by seeing her husband lying in a pool of blood and a huge rat just jumping off the bed. She awakened her husband, who was so very weak from such an enormous loss of blood that he could hardly stand.

He was sent to the hospital to have his wounds dressed, and returned home about 12 o'clock, when all went to bed again.

They had not been asleep for an hour when both husband and wife were awakened by the cries of the baby. They lighted the light, and both were astonished to find that both the wife and the baby had been bitten by the same animal, which had returned.

The wife and child were both sent to the hospital, where their wounds were dressed. The doctors of the institution think that there might be some other infection from the bites. The baby is the worst injured of them all, and Grime's nose is swollen to twice its normal size.

Asthma Sufferers Should Know This.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of asthma that were considered hopeless. Mrs. Adolph Bueising, 701 West Third St., Davenport, Iowa, writes: "A severe cold contracted twelve years ago was neglected until it finally grew into asthma. The best medical skill available could not give me more than temporary relief. Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended and one fifty cent bottle entirely cured me of asthma which had been growing on me for twelve years. If I had taken it at the start I would have been saved years of suffering." Woods & Orme.

Sinful Doings in Boston.

There must be some wicked people in Boston who "are given to revel and ungodly glee." Recently a lot of alleged citizens conceived the sinful idea of having beer with their supper after the theatre--what else could be expected of the frequenters of playhouses?--and so tried to get a bill through the great and general court allowing drinks to be sold after 11 o'clock p. m. on week days. Being foiled in that, they took to buying flowers on the Sabbath, but the local authorities soon put a stop to such wickedness, and now everybody is wondering in what direction the disorderly element will break out the next time.--N. ### Losses in Lemons.

New York, July 12.—There are now 290,000 boxes or 70,000,000 lemons unsold on shipboard in New York harbor. This enormous accumulation has been brought about by peculiar market conditions. The market was high, early in the season and the shipments of lemons have been very large. The market subsequently declined and the receivers have adopted a policy of postponing sales until the market becomes better. But it did not improve as expected.

The supplies will now be turned loose, 70,000 boxes being scheduled for sale at auction this week. The average box contains 350 lemons so it may be seen that the sales this week will be 25,500,000 lemons.

Ninety days ago the bulk of the lemon sales here were being made upon a basis of between $4 and $5. The bulk of the stock, however, is not of the best.

These lemons were bought under contract, and it is conservatively estimated that the importers have already lost $150,000 on the season, and that the losses will reach $500,000, if conditions do not change before the end of the season.

Situations Guaranteed.

We do not guarantee situations to prospective students in order to get their patronage. Schools of merit do not resort to such dishonest practices. Fake schools "guarantee" situations in order to secure students, because they have no other inducements to offer. Our work is so thorough that a guarantee is superfluous. Business men are so eager to get competent help here that a large per cent. of our students take positions before they graduate. See us before making arrangements for your business and shorthand education at some inferior, fake school. We will take pleasure in telling you all about the loopholes in the "position guarantees" of dishonest schools. Catalogues free.

THURSDAY, JULY 19, 1906

By a recent decision of the French Ministry Capt. Dreyfus, the falsely condemned French officer, has been declared innocent and restored to all the rights and privileges of his rank in the army that were forfeited under his condemnation. For nearly a quarter of a century this brave officer has been made to undergo all the misery and disgrace and torture that the ingenuity of the French War Office could heap upon him. Falsely condemned of treason by perjured testimony, stripped of his rank in the army, loaded with chains, banished to Devil's Island (that hell on earth) and there chained in an iron cage and left to perish by inches, such was a portion of the punishment he was forced to endure at the instigation of his perjured persecutors. But happily, after years of suffering, his case attracted the attention of a sympathetic world. The French Government was forced by public sentiment to re-open the matter, with the result that infamous conspiracy against the prisoner was uncovered and he was restored to freedom. Captain Dreyfus entered the cage on Devil Island a robust young man; he left it a grey-haired, physical wreck. And yet God reigns!

It was a grand sight when Admiral Rojestvensky, knowing he was innocent, stood before a Russian court-martial at Cronstadt, vehemently declaring himself guilty and demanding the death punishment in order to save his staff officers. "Greater love than this hath no man for his kind."

Louisville has been selected as the place at which the State Fair is to be permanently located. Louisville bids $165,000 to Lexington's $50,000 for the fair, which heretofore has not proven a very brilliant success.

THE HARGIS TRIAL

Some three weeks ago the Press stated editorially that Judge James Hargis might be guilty of the heinous crimes imputed to him, but that it would take more than the testimony of the Curt Jett and Mose Feltner gang to convince it of that fact.

The trial at Beattyville of Judge Hargis and Ed. Callahan for the murder of J. B. Marcum, which has just closed, fully justifies the confidence of this paper in Judge Hargis. The trial jury consulted only fifteen minutes before bringing in a verdict of "Not Guilty as charged." The verdict of the jury is said to have "stunned" the Commonwealth's Attorney, and Mrs. Marcum wept pitifully at the loss of her revenge. Of course there have been whispers of "dirty work" and "tampering with the jury," all of whom were accepted by both sides without challenge. But an acquittal was bound to evoke such criticism notwithstanding the character, or rather want of character of the prosecuting witnesses, many of whom the jury evidently believed to be perjurers.

Thus ends the Marcum trial, and it is a sad blow to our Republican friends, who have hounded Judge Hargis to the gates of the grave in order to make party capital through his connection with the Democratic State Committee.

The Marcum case was the strongest the prosecution held against Hargis, and as the same witnesses for the prosecution would have to be used in the other cases they will probably be nipped.

Killed by a Train.

Nortonville, Ky., July 16.—L. Legate was struck by Louisville and Nashville passenger train No. 51 and instantly killed Saturday night. He was 71 years old and apparently did not hear or see the train which was running at a high speed and on a curve. Mr. Legate leaves a widow and several children, all grown. His son, G. C. Legate, is telegraph operator here, and was at the key when the news of the accident was wired to the main office by a block operator near the point where the accident occurred.

WOULD STRENGTHEN THE TICKET.

The Board of Education is holding the attention of the community of Tripp county to the fact that Mr. McClesney, of Lexington, is a candidate for the nomination for Auditor in the State primary, to be held at Nortonville. Mr. McClesney, who is a present Secretary of State, is our neighbor living in the same Congressional and same senatorial district with Tripp. He is not unknown to our people, for as far as his record as a public official, he is well remembered by many as having spoken in the county in the campaign of 1899.

As State School Superintendent he gave his best efforts to the improvement of the public school system and among other things securing the passing of an act increasing the school term to six months.

Mr. McClesney is the only First District man among the present State officials, and we know nothing in his record for which Old Gibraltar need apologize, but on the other hand there are many of which she should feel proud.

In every campaign for years, whether he has been a candidate or not, Mr. McClesney has been on the stump for the cause of Democracy, and if nominated he will add strength to the ticket in this particular, as well as in the matter of his record as an official.

Being a First District man and a neighbor, and having many warm, personal friends in the county, every indication is that Mr. McClesney will carry this county by a very large majority. Cadiz Record.

The beautiful and artistic should be encouraged in the school life of every child. The school building should portray these ideas and those things which adorn the tasty home and which are used to beautify the lawn in front of the home should also be applied to the school room and grounds. Within should be neatness and refinement—without, flowers, trees, a well kept lawn—walks and terraces. An untidy house is a great demoralizer, and a neglected school house and yard must have the same effect upon the scholars, besides creating a bad impression with strangers who may visit within our gates. Place a child in a dilapidated ed or poorly furnished school room, and the natural instinct is to further mar the premises. The same applies to the lawn and exterior. It is easy to teach children to adapt themselves to beautiful surroundings and to train them to assist in maintaining order wherever they may be placed. It is a matter of education entirely, and is one which every citizen should take an interest in.

MT. ZION CHURCH.

The church at Mt. Zion was organized in the year of our Lord 1845 by the Presiding Elder Cain. The log house was built near that date. The charter members were R. H. Heath and wife, Wm. Hill, wife and son, Dr. Bristow and wife, Wm. Hughes, Ezekiel Porter, James Broadfoot and wife and Ingram Lucas. Patsy Hughes, J. B. Hill, James T. Taylor and wife came in later on.

The writer is under the impression that old brother Ira Nunn and wife were also charter members, as services were held at his house and also at Dr. Bristow's before the church was built.

When the log house was built Lucile Highley Gilbert helped to cut down the first tree that was put in the building. He was just a boy at that time and died a member of the church. The promise is to the faithful. J. W. Hill was a boy 13 years old at that time. The names of many more could be given but, as the tree is known by the fruit, we are sure their names are in the Lamb's book of life.

Well does the writer remember when quite a little girl, seeing old Brother Nunn going by to class and prayer meeting just as regular as the time came he was there.

Many were the good meetings held in the old log house and many were brought into the fold of Christ that were bright and shining lights, and were ornaments to the church and community.

Many have gone out from here to build homes for themselves and their influence has helped to build up other churches, so their influence still lives. Among those was the father of the writers who was a member of this church. He and his wife were the founders of the Methodist church at Shady Grove. They have passed away, and still their work goes on. Praise to His holy name!

Mt. Zion can well be called the mother of Methodism in this county. On Jan. 25, 1859 a deed was made to the church and Masonic fraternity by Wm. Williams and wife for the sum of five dollars and was recorded in 1864 by Berry S. Young. During the civil war the church had her robes and flows like many of churches. But since the war many saints have been brought to Christ on this consecrated spot. The writer, with others who could name, has had many seasons of refreshing from the presence of the Lord.

Brother Big Trull was one of the pillars of the church at that time. He went out from this church to preach the gospel. He did not live long but he lived a true Christian life, and many will rise up in that Day to call him blessed.

On March 27, 1890 the house was blown down by a cyclone, this being the second house. Then more land was secured and deed made by Robt. Heath in 1891. L. B. Hughes, J. W. Cook and G. P. Wilson, trustees. Then a new house was built and was dedicated by Rev. J. W. Bigham.

Brother Thrasher was preacher in charge at that time and the church has been wonderfully blessed since. It has been under the care of Bros. Gibbons, Archey, Boggess, Crowe, Smithson, Roland and Love.

And now dear brethren and sisters as man's chief end is to glorify God, if we have anything good let us pass it along perhaps it may help others and let us continue to pray 1st, for the enrichment of individual experience, 2nd, for a special outpouring of the Holy Spirit preparing us for a more Christ-like life and for better service, 3rd, for the unswerving of our homes and friends generally, also for the millions in heathen lands.

A little heaven beneath the whole lump. Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ.

Yours in Christ,
H. A. TRAVIS,
W. J. HILL.

CAVE-IN-ROCK.

Scott Bros. & Co. are receiving from eight hundred to sixteen hundred bushels of wheat a day. It is said the quality is the best seen in many years. They contemplate extensive improvements in their mill as soon as the wheat is all in, then we shall certainly have good biscuits next year.

The Farmers Implement Company, F. E. Scott and I. A. Coltrine Managers, have bought out the hardware and implement business of Joseph Mason. The combined stock will invoice close to six thousand dollars. Mr. Mason will retire from business and superintend the work on his farm. He owns over five hundred acres of the best farm land in this vicinity, worth fifty dollars per acre.

Wheat is nearly all threshed or stacked, and is in fine condition: corn looks fine and we are having fine rains. The hay and oat crops are short but were saved in fine condition. Altogether the prospects for peace and plenty are excellent.

Uncle Thomas Douglas and wife visited in Caseyville, Ky., last week. Archie Davidson visited in Cave-in-Rock last week.

Allen Paris gave up going to school and bought some western horses, regular wild, bucking bronchos and he is happy and contented once more.

HELPS TO STUDY

In John 22:44-50 Christ shows his identity with the Father. They that believe on him believe on the Father. They that behold him behold the Father and the words that he speaks are the words of the Father. He speaks of his present mission as one not to judge the world, but to save it.
Nevertheless there will be a time when Christ will judge the world. By the principles of eternal truth and according to our works.

The twenty-fourth chapter of Matthew and the correlated Scriptures in Mark and Luke have long been the subject of disputation. The disciples ask three questions: "When shall these things be?" referring without doubt to the destruction of Jerusalem, and "What shall be the sign of thy coming?" and "What shall be the end of the world?" Jesus, in answer to each of these questions, but the answers are so interesting, and prophetic is so blended with type and symbol that it is difficult to make the distinction.

The parable of the ten virgins is beautiful and has been strikingly described in poetry, painting and drama. The kingdom of heaven is compared to the virgins—arch. The virgins are church members. The lamp is the symbol of profession, the oil, the grace of God. The "unknown" represents Jesus Christ, and "midnight" an unexpected hour. Wise prudent, foreseeing, acting with good judgment, looking to their present and eternal interests. "Foolish" is simply description, setting forth the pleasures of this world, putting off the necessary preparation. Give us of your oil, the grace of God and Christian character cannot be transferred; this must be a self-appropriation.

The parable of the talents is closely connected with that of the ten virgins. The virgins were represented as waiting for the Lord, the servants as working for him. There the inward spiritual life of the Christian was described here, his external activity. Then by the parable of the foolish virgins we are warned against carelessness and delay in the narrow, spiritual life here against sluggishness and sloth and indifference to the duty of our Christian duty. There, the foolish virgins failed from drink; here, the wicked servant fails from drinking. Let us put two facts.

Our talents are education, training, energy, skill, health, wealth, opportunities, time, Christian experience, the truth of the Gospel, the ability to teach and preach, and the endowments of the Holy Spirit. These are given according to ability and we are responsible according to talents. Improvement and right use of talents increase the endowment. What is rewarded according to faithfulness.

The scene at the last judgment is not a picture, but a picture and a prophecy. It does not liken the Kingdom of God to anything, but describes the literal Son of man, in his literal person at his literal coming to a literal judgment, in that language and picture form which can most vividly and truly express to us the great reality. The personal and visible coming of Jesus Christ shall be at the judgment. Men will be rewarded according to their deeds and assigned to their eternal destiny.

THE TEACHER

Principles of teaching —

2 The Principle of Cooperation a The teacher must be in thorough sympathy with his work and with his scholars.

b The scholar's attention must be maintained throughout.

c The co-operation of dull and slow scholar is to be sought even at the expense of the bright ones.

d This co-operation should extend forward and backward through the week in some form of research, or of topics and questions assigned for investigation.

SEARCH QUESTIONS.

1 What three parables of warning does Matthew record as addressed by Jesus to the Jews? 2 State the substance and meaning of each as it applied to the Jews then. 3 Put the teaching of each in general terms applicable to all times, and suggest applications to our own day. 4
What feeling and purpose did these parables rouse in the Jews? 5 What were the three questions by which his energies hoped to embarrass Jesus?
6 In answering them, what does Jesus teach as to politics? 7 What as to the resurrection? 8 What is the chief duties of men? 9 What question did Jesus ask the scribes? 10 What was the point of his argument?
11 Mention some of the vices for which Jesus denounced the Pharisees.
12 Do such vices exist today? 13 In what form do we need to be on our guard against them? 14 What is the remedy for Phariseism? 15 Tell the story of Jesus in the treasury. 16 What element of Jesus' character does the event illustrate? 17 What instruction does it carry for us?
18 What did the coming of the Greeks that desired to see Jesus suggest to his mind? 19 What other thought quickly followed it in his mind? 20
What great principle did he set forth in this connection (Jno. 12:24)? 21
Does this principle apply to his life only, or to all men? 22 What do you learn concerning Jesus' character and relation to God from the two petitions of his prayer in vs. 27, 28? 23 What concerning prayer from the whole incident? 24 What does Jesus mean by "the judgment of this world" in
v. 31? 25 What does he mean by being "lifted up" and by "drawing all men" to him? 26 What connection is there between the two? 27
What does this whole incident show as to Jesus' attitude toward his death, and his thoughts about its significance? 28 Explain the perplexity and question of the people in v. 34. 29 What is the meaning and purpose of Jesus' warning in Jno. 12:35, 36? Are the words of Jno. 12:37-43 those of Jesus or John? 31 What is the writer's explanation of the failure of the Jews to receive Jesus?

Underground System for Mail.

Chicago, July 12. The underground system for the transportation of mail in Chicago will be inaugurated next Monday, when the tunnel connection between the post office and the LaSalle street station will be put into operation.

Postmaster Busse announced today that this tunnel is completed and that the tunnels to the other five railroad stations in the city will be opened by Sept. 1. The underground conducts extend from the post office to the Illinois Central, Grand Central, Polk street, LaSalle street, and Chicago and Northwestern railroad stations, and two to the Union station.

All these tunnels are part of the system of tunnels which underlie the streets and which aggregate nearly seventy-five miles of underground electric lines for the transportation of freight. When connection has been made with all the railroad stations, the use of the heavy mail wagons on the streets will be abolished and the driveway beneath the post office building will be used only by receivers of mail, who send their own wagons to the office.

Christening a Young Duke.

Vicksburg, Miss., July 13.—The young Duke of Manchester, who is the great grandson of Miss Yreana, and whose father, the Duke and his brother, who was Miss Zimmerman of Cincinnati, have often visited at the Yreana home, is to be christened with water taken from the Mississippi river.

The water was shipped in a sealed cask by express. It was ordered by cable and telegraph. The day was marked by the presence of a number of the Press, who had spent the day and evening in the city. The Duke will use the water at the christening in London, as a tribute to Miss Yreana, whose he greatly admires.

The Use of the Comma.

In a village on the eastern coast of Massachusetts, it was the custom for the minister to read in churches the requests of members for the prayers of the congregations in special sermons. One Sunday the regular minister had exchanged pulpits with a clergyman from the interior of the State to whom the custom was unknown. The deacon, at the usual time in the service, ascended the pulpit stairs and gave the minister the written requests for prayers, explaining what was to be done with them.
A few minutes later the congregation was puzzled and not a little amused to hear in a slow and deliberate voice: "A man going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation for his safe return."

The note was: "A man going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation for his safe return."

MARKETING LIMA BEANS.

Some of the Things to Remember in Order to Best Dispose of the Crop.

August is the month for heavy pro- duction of lima beans. They continue to bear, however, till the first hard killing frost. The amount and length of profitable bearing depends largely upon keeping the vines picked clean and not allowing pods to get dead ripe, for the ripened seed of any kind takes most vital substance out of the plant and causes it to die. Besides the beans when not quite ripe bring the highest prices. The time to pick the pods is when they show faint traces of light green to yellow. After the pod becomes yellow, the beans inside are ripe, turn white and are then consid- ered "dry" beans. White ones mixed with the green damage the selling price from a few cents to half their value per quart.

On the market lima beans are sold by the quart, hence the best pack is the ordinary 16 or 24 quart berry crate. Read early beans often sell better in flat boxes, as the price is so high that customers of the retail stores do not want as many as a full quart. The best market basket is another package used six to ten quarts being put in each basket with a covering of green netting to enhance the greenness of the beans.

Many beans cannot be shipped in bulk, because they heat the most of all vegetables, and heating results in souring, sprouting, mildew, spotting and decay. Although itself green and full of water, the lima bean must be absolutely free from outside moisture when packed for shipment, says Farm, Field and Fireside. Nor must the package in any way get wet, or a total loss will result inside of 12 hours. A novice in the business often blames the express company or commission merchant for the spoiling of his goods and consequent bad returns, when it is his own fault in allowing the beans to be packed in a damp condition.

Shelling, as well as picking, must be done by hand. Shelling is the more tedious process. A good sheller can shell eight to 12 quarts per hour and a half to two cents per quart is usually the price for shelling, children most often doing the work, although the supervision of a competent grown person is necessary at all times.

If for any reason the beans after being shelled are damp, they should be packed for an hour or more before packing on a clean cloth, or some other clean, absorbing substance, in the open air—but not in the sun. This is to dry the outer surfaces. They should be spread not more than an inch deep and rolled from side to side every few minutes to secure even dry- ing. The cloth will absorb a part of the moisture and the air the res- t. Usually, however, no such drying process is necessary.

SEEDING PASTURES.

How One Man Handled His Land After Prairie Grasses Had Been Fed Out.

My experience is not very exten- sive, but I will say that I seeded a prairie pasture after the prairie grasses had been fed out, with one part timothy, one part red top and one part blue grass. I found that the timothy and blue grass took good on the high ground and the red top took best on the low ground. I found, too, that after about three years the blue grass had crowded everything else out, even the weeds to a certain ex- tent. It takes blue grass about two years to get a good start. But the red top did fine on low ground the first year. If I were going to seed a pasture for cattle, horses and sheep, especially if the land had been under cultivation, I should sow two parts red clover, one part timothy and one part blue grass, and on low lands I would put one part timothy and one part red top, for the reason red top does best on low ground. I find in my pastures on the high, dry knolls that in June and July, when the weather is dry and the sun is hot, these knolls dry out and give little or no feed, hence my reason for sowing red top on the for stock during the driest part of the season, and, too, there is always a heavy growth around the sloughs or low places that make fine grazing during the winter months when it is not covered with snow. Now, continues the correspondent of Farmers' Re- view, my reason for sowing timothy and clover is that the clover helps to shade the timothy and blue grass after the harvest has been taken off, and it helps to fill out the stand until the timothy and blue grass get a good start.
